Welding services

Welding is frequently considered a "Special Process" as its quality cannot be readily verified. Its successful application requires specialist management and personnel. Our expertise means we can work with a diverse range of materials from carbon steel, low temperature steel, low and high carbon stainless steels such as ferritic stainless steel.

A sound welding system is critical to the control of the manufacturing process to ensure the timely delivery and cost effective. UNICO is able to provide welding procedure specifications (WPS) and procedure qualification records (PQR).

We offer welding services in any of the MMA, MIG or TIG welding.
